The Pierces

Thirteen Tales of Love and Revenge (Lizard)

The Alabama-bred Pierces sisters, Allison and Catherine, make good use of their strong, indistinguishable voices on their third album. The duo sounds sexier and warmer than ever on these whimsical ditties, which are enhanced with vibes, banjos and harmonies. Still, the most alluring track deviates from its usual folk-pop formula: The robotic dance-rock number "Boring," the Pierces' answer to Pete Townshend's "Exquisitely Bored," makes disaffection seem quite glamorous.—Cristina Black
